That is clear to all who seek justice for the people of Flint and not just outsized legal payoffs.

Veolia Flint Facts @VNAFlintFacts · Aug 11

The people of Flint have suffered deeply, and it is our collective responsibility — across government, the private sector, and the public — to work together to ensure that what happened in Flint never happens again, and to help the people of Flint get the justice they deserve.

Responsibility for the Flint Water Crisis lies with these govt officials who made the decision to switch Flint's water source to save money at the expense of residents' health and well-being, and who have so far escaped all accountability for their actions.

Today's mistrial shows that the plaintiffs' lawyers attempts to create a corporate scapegoat where none exists, while shielding the government officials who are truly responsible from facing justice, was a waste of time, energy, and money.

We would have preferred a unanimous verdict and we believe that if the govt officials responsible for the #FlintWaterCrisis, including Gov. Snyder, had answered our questions instead of pleading the 5th, the jury would have been in a better position to reach a unanimous verdict.

We are pleased to see that the meritless allegations of the plaintiffs' lawyers failed to convince the jury, which confirms what we have been saying all along: that the people of VNA did good work for the people of Flint.
